Cheek Swabbing is a process to start the process to start identifying potential donors. You could save a life. Todd has received a transplant because someone took the time to be screened and then chose to take the next steps to participate. While Todd doesn't know who they are, he knows his match was in Europe. The data base is now World Wide due in part to the efforts of DKMS.

The process to donate has changed from the past to be none painful.

For more information go to www.dkmsamericas.com

Donations are accepted to defray costs. Part of the Leukemia 24-7 donations received during September will go to DKMS.

Please stop by. You must be between the ages of 18 - 55 to participate in the cheek swab screen. Monetary donations can be made at any age.
